FRIDAY LECTURE

12th Annual James M. Shaw Lecture

Celtic Rites of the Holy Wells

Sylvia Brinton Perera, Dipl. Analyt. Psych. (New York)

Friday, September 20, 8-10pm

First Unitarian Church, 175 St. Clair Ave. W., Toronto

Admission: $12 members/students; $16 non-members

Sustaining and Supporting members free

With reference to Jung's insights in his essay, "Transformation Symbolism in the Mass" (CW 11), we will explore some of the mythic tales of the Celtic people demonstrating the power of wellsprings to provide healing, regeneration and the expansion of consciousness. We will begin to appreciate the contemporary relevance of these myths and rites as we find parallels with modern clinical practices.

Sylvia Brinton Perera is the author of Descent to the Goddess (1981) and The Scapegoat Complex (1986).

SUNDAY WORKSHOP

Healing Well Ritual

Sylvia Brinton Perera, Dipl. Analyt. Psych. (New York)

Sunday, September 22, 10am-4pm (5 hrs)

Alumni Hall, Vic. College, 91 Charles. St. W., Toronto

Registration: $80 members/students; $120 non-members

Sustaining members $30

Limited to 30. Pre-registration required.

An experiential workshop in which participants will undertake the eight stages of a healing well ritual. The ancient rite is analogous to the journey of Jungian therapy and can help attune us to the source and work towards the healing of our own complexes. Please bring a journal.

SATURDAY SEMINAR

Reading Rock Art

Laurie Savlov, Dipl. Analyt. Psych. (IGAP)

Saturday, September 28, 10am-1pm (3 hrs)

223 St. Clair Ave. W. (3rd floor), Toronto

Registration: $50 members/students; $80 non-members

Sustaining members $20

Limited to 30 (minimum 10). Pre-registration required.

The symbolic power of the image can clearly be seen in the marks left upon the land by the native population of Canada before the arrival of the Europeans. This seminar interprets native peoples' rock carvings and rock paintings in the context of their sacred world views. A slide presentation of the rock art at the Petroglyph Provincial Park north-west of Peterborough is included. Shamanic journeys, male and female generative power, hunting and war medicine, animal manitous, and perhaps dream images are portrayed in the rock.

SATURDAY SEMINAR SERIES

Film Circle

Robert Gardner, Dipl. Analyt. Psych. (Zurich)

4 Saturdays, Oct. 5, Nov. 2, Jan. 11, Feb. 8, 10-3 (16 hrs)

223 St. Clair Ave. W. (3rd floor), Toronto

Registration: $130 members/students; $180 non-members

Sustaining members $45

Limited to 30 (minimum 18). Pre-registration required.

The purpose of the seminar is to discuss a series of films from the point of view of analytical psychology. We will begin with American Beauty (Dir: Sam Mendes). You are invited to participate in deciding on the remaining films at a social gathering at 223 St. Clair Ave. W., 8 pm, on Sept. 27.

FRIDAY LECTURE

The Story of Hinduism: A Psychological Appreciation

George Elder, Ph.D.

Friday, October 18, 8-10pm

First Unitarian Church, 175 St. Clair Ave. W., Toronto

Admission: $12 members/students; $16 non-members

Sustaining and Supporting members free

The matriarchal psychology of the Indus Valley of 2500 B.C.E. will be the focus of this evening's lecture. With slide accompaniment.

SUNDAY SEMINAR

Classic Hindu Monotheism

George Elder, Ph.D.

Sunday, October 20, 10am-1pm (3 hrs)

223 St. Clair Ave. W. (3rd floor), Toronto

Registration: $50 members/students; $80 non-members

Sustaining members $20

Limited to 30. Pre-registration required.

A look at images of Hindu divinity, Vishnu (Krishna), Shiva, Devi or the Goddess, with slides, and their relation to Jung's ideas on the creative unconscious and archetypes.

FRIDAY MINI-LECTURE

Revisioning Incarnation: Jung on the Relativity of God

John P. Dourley, Dipl. Analyt. Psych. (Zurich)

Friday, October 25, 8-10pm

223 St. Clair Ave. W. (3rd floor), Toronto

Registration: $30 members/students; $40 non-members

Sustaining members $10

Limited to 30 (minimum 10). Pre-registration required.

Focus on Jung's radical understanding of incarnation as involving processes of the unconscious becoming conscious in the historical evolution of humanity; in short, that God needs man and woman to become conscious.

SUNDAY SEMINAR SERIES

Bewitchment in Fairy Tales

Dorothy Gardner, Dipl. Analyt. Psych. (Zurich)

4 Sundays, Nov. 3, 10, 17, Dec. 1, 10am-12:30pm (10 hrs)

223 St. Clair Ave. W. (3rd floor), Toronto

Registration: $160 members/students; $240 non-members

Sustaining members $60

Limited to 15 (minimum 10). Pre-registration required.

Images of bewitchment surface in the psyches of both men and women. When we are under a spell, we tend to act in ways that are inferior and fall into repetitive patterns that interfere with our ability to negotiate life. Seminar participants will look at tales that describe this dynamic and discuss the tasks involved in the struggle to be freed from it.

SUNDAY SEMINAR

Muslim Women and the Multiple Meanings of the Veil

Shirley S.Y. Ma, Dipl. Analyt. Psych. (Zurich)

Ruth Mas, Centre for the Study of Religion, U. of Toronto

Sunday, November 3, 2-4:30pm (2 1/2 hrs)

223 St. Clair Ave. W. (3rd floor), Toronto

Registration: $35 members/students; $50 non-members

Sustaining members $12

Limited to 30 (minimum 12). Pre-registration required.

Despite the fact that the present social significance of the practice of veiling varies widely, the question of why Muslim women veil is most often raised in the context of Muslim women's oppression. This association has become even more entrenched since September 11 with our exposure to the media's countless images of veiled women. The purpose of this seminar is to introduce the historical origins of the practice of veiling as well as to examine the historical contexts in which Muslim women have been forced to veil as well as to un-veil.

FRIDAY MINI-LECTURE

Reflections on the Book of Job and Jung's Answer to Job

Tony Woolfson, Ph.D.

Friday, November 8, 8-10pm

223 St. Clair Ave. W. (3rd floor), Toronto

Registration: $30 members/students; $40 non-members

Sustaining members $10

Limited to 30 (minimum 10). Pre-registration required.

Answer to Job, written in 1951, was the one work of which Jung said he would not have changed a word. On the other hand, he said that since writing Answer to Job he had lived in his own private hell. There is a rich legacy of ideas in this profound and challenging work—ideas about the continuing incarnation of God, the dark side of God, the feminine side of God, and the meaning of suffering. That rich legacy will be explored in tonight's lecture.

SATURDAY SEMINAR

A Reading Seminar on Jung's Answer to Job

Tony Woolfson, Ph.D.

Saturday, November 9, 10am-4pm (5 hrs)

223 St. Clair Ave. W. (3rd floor), Toronto

Registration: $80 members/students; $120 non-members

Sustaining members $30

Limited to 30 (minimum 12). Pre-registration required.

A continuation of the previous evening's lecture. Participants will read and discuss selected passages from Jung's controversial work on the God-image. Participants are asked to read Answer to Job before the seminar and to bring a copy of the work with them.

FRIDAY LECTURE

Introduction to Impromptu Drawings

Gregg M. Furth, Dipl. Analyt. Psych. (Zurich)

Friday, November 22, 8-10pm

First Unitarian Church, 175 St. Clair Ave. W., Toronto

Admission: $12 members/students; $16 non-members

Sustaining and Supporting members free

An introduction to understanding the non-verbal language of impromptu drawings by physically ill and emotionally troubled persons. This understanding includes helping people to experience their drawings as more than meaningless doodles or mere representations of scenes from one's imagination. In fact, we will find that impromptu drawing is a valid means of communication from the unconscious.

Gregg Furth is the author of The Secret World of Drawings: A Jungian Approach to Healing through Art (2002).

SUNDAY SEMINAR

Impromptu Drawings, Part Two

Gregg M. Furth, Dipl. Analyt. Psych. (Zurich)

Sunday, November 24, 10am-4pm (5 hrs)

223 St. Clair Ave. W. (3rd floor), Toronto

Registration: $80 members/students; $120 non-members

Sustaining members $30

Limited to 30. Pre-registration required.

As a continuation of Friday evening's lecture, structured and unstructured drawings will be demonstrated. These drawings will help show how we can uncover early childhood hurts to be worked upon in the counselling process. Information gleaned from the seminar should provide participants with a better understanding of some of the principles of analytical psychology and also help them expand work on their own dreams and personal development.

Of special interest to therapists, health care practitioners, educators and artists.

FRIDAY LECTURE

Hunters and Farmers Haunting the Self:

The Return of Repressed Myths in the Modern Soul

David Miller, Professor, University of Syracuse

Friday, December 13, 8-10pm

First Unitarian Church, 175 St. Clair Ave. W., Toronto

Admission: $12 members/students; $16 non-members

Sustaining and Supporting members free

Goethe's Faust utters agonizing words that speak for many modern men and women: "Two souls, alas, reside within my breast!" Jung confirmed the psychological truth of this by noting that the nature of the psyche is that of a complexio oppositorum, a constellation of oppositions. The lecture will explore one of the many tensions felt in the self by drawing upon a distinction between the mythologies of hunting peoples and those of planting peoples. We all have a hunter and a farmer deep within the self, and these two often don't get along very well!

SUNDAY SEMINAR

Hunters and Farmers Haunting the Self, Part Two

David Miller, Professor, University of Syracuse

Sunday, December 15, 10am-3pm (4 hrs)

223 St. Clair Ave. W. (3rd floor), Toronto

Registration: $65 members/students; $100 non-members

Sustaining members $25

Limited to 30. Pre-registration required.

Utilizing stories, slides and discussion, this seminar will allow for the experiencing of aspects of the hunter and farmer complexes within the self. Motifs to be discussed will include: the taboo against pigs and the feminine; the relation of trees, women and snakes; the task of slaying dragons; nurturing the wild animal; honouring the ghosts and ancestors; and ways of killing and bleeding without loss of soul.

FRIDAY MINI-LECTURE

The Heart of the Matter:

Individuation as an Ethical Process

Christina Becker, Dipl. Analyt. Psych. (Zurich)

Friday, January 10, 8-10pm

223 St. Clair Ave. W. (3rd floor), Toronto

Registration: $30 members/students; $40 non-members

Sustaining members $10

Limited to 30 (minimum 10). Pre-registration required.

Jung suggested that the chief causes of neurosis were difficult moral problems and conflicts of conscience which arise between the individual and some outside force. Tonight's lecture explores the psychological functions of conscience, morality, and integrity, and the symbol of the heart within the context of individuation.

FRIDAY LECTURE

Jung and Spiritualism

Kenneth James, Dipl. Analyt. Psych. (Chicago)

Friday, January 17, 8-10pm

First Unitarian Church, 175 St. Clair Ave. W., Toronto

Admission: $12 members/students; $16 non-members

Sustaining and Supporting members free

Jung's interest in spiritualism is the focus of tonight's lecture. It will include an examination of the "philosophy" of spiritualism as well as an analysis of the phenomenon from both personal and archetypal perspectives and a survey of the modern and increasingly widespread spiritualist "craze."

SUNDAY SEMINAR

Divination, Meditation, and Individuation

Kenneth James, Dipl. Analyt. Psych. (Chicago)

Sunday, January 19, 10am-4pm (5 hrs)

Music Room, Wymilwood, Vic. College, 150 Charles St. W.

Registration: $80 members/students; $120 non-members

Sustaining members $30

Limited to 30. Pre-registration required.

What is the relationship, from the perspective of analytical psychology, between divination of various forms and the structure and dynamics of the psyche? What is the role of meditation in personal growth and in the development of divinatory sensitivity to what Jungians refer to as synchronicity? And what exactly do Jungians mean by individuation? Participants will consider these and related questions.

Basic Principles of Jungian Psychology

Daryl Sharp, Dipl. Analyt. Psych. (Zurich)

3 Sundays, Feb. 2, 9, 16, 10am-12:30pm (7 1/2 hrs)

223 St. Clair Ave. W. (3rd floor), Toronto

Registration: $120 members/students; $160 non-members

Sustaining members $40

Limited to 30 (minimum 12). Pre-registration required.

Three lecture-presentations, with ample time for discussion.

Feb. 2: Knowing Yourself. Jung's model of typology; archetypes and complexes; persona and shadow; conflict; the puer/puella syndrome.

Feb. 9: The Unknown Other. Projection and identification; anima and animus; the challenge of relationship; intimacy with distance.

Feb. 16: Psychological Development. Becoming conscious; self-knowledge; personality and individuation; vocation; group work; inflation; the spiritual dimension.

Daryl Sharp is the author of 12 books, including Digesting Jung: Food for the Journey (2001).

FRIDAY LECTURE

Love, Hate, and the Future in the Cells Where Matter Is So Fine It Merges with Spirit

Ted Fillery, Dipl. Analyt. Psych. (Zurich)

Friday, February 21, 8-10pm

First Unitarian Church, 175 St. Clair Ave. W., Toronto

Admission: $12 members/students; $16 non-members

Sustaining and Supporting members free

The title of this lecture is taken from a quote by Don Marquis, an editor of the New York Sun in the 1920s, who parodied verse libre by claiming to have a cockroach in his columns that was unable to manage punctuation and capitals since both required using the shift key. In the column quoted, Marquis predicts the end of the world brought about by microbes. This lecture attempts an imaginative balance of analytical psychology and science in exploring the relationship between psyche and soma both symbolically and in terms of the cells and cell processes involved.

SATURDAY SEMINAR

Animus: Friend or Foe?

Shirley S.Y. Ma, Dipl. Analyt. Psych. (Zurich)

Saturday, February 22, 10am-4pm (5 hrs)

223 St. Clair Ave. W. (3rd floor), Toronto

Registration: $80 members/students; $120 non-members

Sustaining members $30

Limited to 30 (minimum 10). Pre-registration required.

Focussing on the animus (or inner masculine) in feminine development, this seminar will use dreams, clinical material and fairy tale motifs to illustrate how this energy may be mobilized into a creative and productive relationship with the feminine ego.

SATURDAY SEMINAR SERIES

Dreams and Dreaming

Graham Jackson, Dipl. Analyt. Psych. (Zurich)

4 Saturdays, March 8, 15, 22, 29, 10am-1pm (12 hrs)

223 St. Clair Ave. W. (3rd floor), Toronto

Registration: $180 members/students; $240 non-members

Sustaining and Supporting members $60

Limited to 30 (minimum 12). Pre-registration required.

The dream was the centrepiece of Jung's therapeutic work with patients, as he believed that the dream provided the best possible portrait of the unconscious life of the dreamer at the time of its appearance. To this end he pursued a "method of interpretation" that was more exactly a kind of circumambulation of the dream that allowed for a gradual revelation of the dream's meaning. Using both single dreams and dreams in a series, participants will investigate the world of dreaming, both in theory and in practice.

SUNDAY WORKSHOP

The I Ching and the Psyche-Body Connection

Shirley S.Y. Ma, Dipl. Analyt. Psych. (Zurich)

Sunday, March 16, 10am-4pm (5 hrs)

223 St. Clair Ave. W. (3rd floor), Toronto

Registration: $80 members/students; $120 non-members

Sustaining and Supporting members $30

Limited to 15 (minimum 10). Pre-registration required.

The workshop will open with a presentation on the I Ching and its relationship to psyche and body. In the afternoon, we will examine the psychological significance of the psyche-body connection for healing and self-realization. We will explore ways of connecting with the subtle body through the physical body's internal organs and energy channels. Participants will work on releasing and transcending repressed psychic contents in order to become more conscious. (Please wear comfortable clothing.)

FRIDAY LECTURE

Frida Kahlo

Kathrin Asper, Dipl. Analyt. Psych. (Zurich)

Friday, March 21, 8-10pm

First Unitarian Church, 175 St. Clair Ave. W., Toronto

Admission: $12 members/students; $16 non-members

Sustaining and Supporting members free

Frida Kahlo lived a colourful, passionate life with genuine and everlasting love and fidelity to her Mexican-Indian roots. With her impulses for expansion checked by polio in her childhood and a cruel accident at age 18, years of painful surgery utterly restricted her life. In this reduced state Frida started painting, strongly determined never to give it up. Her art is compelling and unusual, bizarre, colourful, at times shocking, and very feminine.

SATURDAY WORKSHOP

The Kingdom of God Is Within

Rosemarie Kennedy, Dipl. Analyt. Psych. (Zurich)

Saturday, April 5, 10am-2pm (4 hrs)

223 St. Clair Ave. W. (3rd floor), Toronto

Registration: $65 members/students; $100 non-members

Sustaining members $25

Limited to 30 (minimum 10). Pre-registration required.

Respect for the dream helps honour our belief that the kingdom of God is within and links us with our Judaeo-Christian heritage, for both the Old and New Testaments took dreams seriously. The workshop will offer a simple presentation of basic concepts of Jungian psychology as they are related specifically to dream interpretation. Participants are invited to bring dreams anonymously, typed or clearly written, so that these dreams may be used during the workshop.

FRIDAY LECTURE

Solitude: A Blessing or a Curse?

Joanne Wieland-Burston, Dipl. Analyt. Psych. (Zurich)

Friday, April 11, 8-10pm

First Unitarian Church, 175 St. Clair Ave. W., Toronto

Admission: $12 members/students; $16 non-members

Sustaining and Supporting members free

The Singles' Society is a modern phenomenon: more people today live alone than ever before in the history of mankind. Many consciously choose this form of life and enjoy it. Others feel lonely, isolated, even alienated. This is a basic paradox of contemporary experience: we seem to be born with a need for relationships and a need for a certain measure of solitude. Tonight's lecture will examine the phenomenon of solitude, its joys and pains—in various cultures and at various times—also delving into the inner psychic processes involved.

SUNDAY WORKSHOP

A Room of One's Own

Joanne Wieland-Burston, Dipl. Analyt. Psych. (Zurich)

Sunday, April 13, 10am-4pm (5 hrs)

Music Room, Wymilwood, Vic. College, 150 Charles St. W.

Registration: $80 members/students; $120 non-members

Sustaining and Supporting members $30

Limited to 30. Pre-registration required.

The need for a room of one's own has become a cultural phenomenon. Retreat - be it into the desert, a mountain, onto an island or within one's own four walls—is "in," a way to contact one's own creativity. At the same time, feeling alone is a modern day complaint. It is definitely "not in," rather shameful in fact. How do we solve this paradox? What does it mean to be alone and how can one deal with the pain and fear involved? Participants will explore the dimensions of solitude as they present themselves in the modern psyche.

FRIDAY LECTURE

Jung, Shamanism, and Individuation: Valuing the Soul

Cathy Lee Farley, Dipl. Analyt. Psych. (Zurich)

Friday, May 16, 8-10pm

First Unitarian Church, 175 St. Clair Ave. W., Toronto

Admission: $12 members/students; $16 non-members

Sustaining and Supporting members free

Jung saw shamanism as the earliest forerunner of analytical psychology, and shamanic symbolism as a projection of the individuation process. In this lecture, we will explore some of the parallels between these systems of healing, and we will look at ways in which shamanic symbolism mirrors the individuation process—all of which rests on a profound appreciation of the value of the soul.

The Library has a large and growing collection of books and video-tapes on Jungian psychology, mythology, and related fields, many hard to find or out of print. Those not in the reference section may be borrowed by members. Volunteer assistance is welcome (see below).

Word & Image Bookshop

Books may be purchased at the Foundation office, at monthly Friday evening lectures (from 7:15), and at most seminars and workshops. Members receive a 10% discount. Payment by cash, cheque, or VISA. Sorry, no mail order.

Chiron Newsletter

The newsletter Chiron is an occasional publication featuring news of the Foundation's activities, reviews of lectures and books, etc. Submissions to the Editorial Committee, and production assistance, are welcome.

Volunteer Services

The activities of the Jung Foundation of Ontario depend on membership and registration fees, tax-deductible donations, and volunteer assistance. To offer your skills and experience, or suggestions for future programs, please contact Edith Leslie, Administrator, at 416-961-9767.

REGISTRATION FORM (detach and fill out reverse)

Lecture tickets are available at the door or in advance.

Pre-registration with payment is required for all mini-lectures, seminars, and workshops.
